

Mark C. Toner

Acting Deputy Department Spokesman

Daily Press Briefing

Washington, DC

May 26, 2011

TRANSCRIPT [EXCERPT]:

1:41 p.m. EDT

QUESTION: May I have one on Cambodia, please? Are Cambodian people ever going to get justice? Over two million Cambodians were killed under the dictatorship of Khmer Rouge. And yesterday, Asia Society had a documentary, "Enemies of the People," and the people are still waiting and asking the United States and international community to bring him to justice.

MR. TONER: To bring Pol Pot? Who are you talking about?

QUESTION: Khmer Rouge.

MR. TONER: Who? No, the Khmer Rouge. I thought you said him.

QUESTION: No, no.

MR. TONER: Oh, sorry, you've stumped me. I'm not aware – I'm not up to speed on where those efforts may be.

QUESTION: Well, the trial is going inside Cambodia, but it's not moving anywhere without --

MR. TONER: I'll see what I can find, Goyal, okay?

QUESTION: -- U.S. help. Thank you.